MISSING MAN: BODY FOUND

Police confident body is that of Ambrose Ball – despite 'inconclusive' post-mortem examination

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

DETECTIVES are satisfied the body discovered in the River Lea in Tottenham last week is that of missing Ambrose Ball, who vanished more than eight weeks ago after his wrecked car was found close by.

A post-mortem examination on Friday at Haringey Mortuary proved inconclusive, but despite no formal identification having taken place, police are confident it is the 30-year-old, who mysteriously disappeared on Saturday, January 24.

The family of the father-of-two have been informed.

The body was recovered from the New Cut, off Ferry Lane, last Thursday.

Detectives are treating Mr Ball's death as unexplained.

Mr Ball, also known as Jay, was last seen driving his silver BMW from The Fox pub, in Green Lanes, Palmers Green, in the early hours of January 24.

His car was in collision with the central reservation in Watermead Way at the junction with Sedge Road in Tottenham.

The car lost one of its front wheels and continued down the road, stopping near Tottenham Marshes.

Discovery: Police are satisfied that the body found in the River Lea last week is that of Ambrose Ball (top, right). Mr Ball's wrecked BMW was found near Tottenham Marshes following an accident in the early hours of January 24

Police carried out a fingertip and marine search of the marshes and Walthamstow wetlands days after Mr Ball disappeared.

They have also issued descriptions of three motorists who may have stopped after the accident.

A date of an inquest at Barnet Coroner's Court is still to be confirmed.

Swan-derful!

AN 11-year-old schoolboy has amazed teachers by creating a swan-derful sculpture of the elegant, long-necked bird – made entirely from sheets of recycled A4 paper.

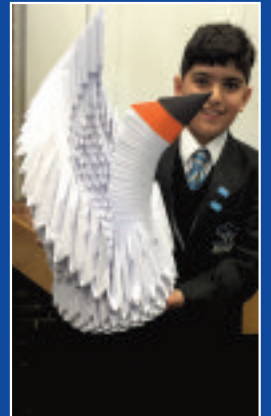

Talented Stefan Paronikyan, a Year 7 pupil at Woodside High School, in White Hart Lane, Wood Green, was set homework along with classmates in design and technology to produce small objects made out of cut and folded paper.

When he handed in his miniature version of the swan, with its highly detailed feathered wings and elegant neck, his design and technology teacher Ben Hilmi was so impressed he challenged Stefan to produce a full-size sculpture of the paper swan.

"I was absolutely blown away when I saw it," said Mr Hilmi. "I have been a teacher for 16 years and have never seen someone so young, who is so talented. It took him four days to make it using 200 sheets of paper."

The sculpture also impressed the school's headteacher and she agreed it should be put on display in a glass cabinet in the school's foyer for everyone to see.

Stefan, who wants to be an architect, said: "Design and technology is my favourite subject, I love it."

Police shut down cannabis factory after raid

A CANNABIS factory has been found and shut down by police officers in a leafy residential street.

Officers from the Bounds Green Safer Neighbourhood Team searched a property in Palace Road, Bounds Green, last Monday following reports of suspicious activity.

The landlord of the property had raised the alarm after going to the premises and finding the locks had been changed.

Once police had gained entry, they discovered a fully-fledged cannabis factory with a small quantity of plants and the related electrical and hydroponic equipment used to cultivate the plants.

Several of the cannabis plants had already been harvested.

The plants and drug paraphernalia were seized by officers. No suspects were found inside the address and inquiries continue to trace them.

Acting Sergeant Roberto Vacca, from Bounds Green Safer Neighbourhoods Team, said: "These premises contained equipment used specifically for the purpose of cultivating cannabis. The discovery of this factory and the seizure of plants will undoubtedly have an impact on the people supplying and selling cannabis."

"We will continue to target those responsible for committing offences and any form of antisocial behaviour."

Bond squeezed out in cabinet reshuffle

Reshuffle sees Alev Cazimoglu win place at top table

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

CHRIS Bond, one of the borough's most well-known council figures, has been removed from his cabinet position.

Mr Bond, who was the cabinet member for environment and community safety, was not re-elected at a meeting of Enfield Council's Labour group last week.

The election of a new cabinet was sparked by the resignation of Rohini Simbodyal, the then member for culture, sport, youth and public health, earlier this month.

Don McGowan, who was the cabinet member for health and adult social care, decided not to stand – meaning there were two vacant cabinet positions.

Other big hitters in the cabinet, including finance chief Andrew Stafford and Labour group veteran Achilleas Georgiou, made it back into the cabinet, but Labour stalwart Mr Bond was not so lucky.

The man who has been spearheading the campaign to secure £30million for the Cycle Enfield bike scheme and who helped the council secure government backing for the by-law to ban spitting in the borough, is no longer a cabinet member after last week's elections.

The Advertiser tried to contact Mr Bond for a statement on the loss of his cabinet position, but he did not return our calls.

Deputy leader of the council Mr Georgiou and the leader of the council Doug Taylor also did not comment on the decision.

However, newly-elected cabinet member for the health and adult social care portfolio Alev Cazimoglu, whose daughter is running for election to the council in Jubilee ward in Edmonton in a by-election on May 7 triggered by Ms Simbodyal's departure, spoke to the Advertiser about her role.

Although keen to stress nothing was official until the positions were voted on and ratified at the Labour group's annual meeting on May 13, she admitted that she was excited by the new challenge.

"I'm really really pleased," she told the Advertiser.

"It is in an area I feel passionately about, having chaired the health and well-being scrutiny panel.

"We know there is a black hole in Enfield in terms of a lack of services – with more GPs and primary care services desperately needed.

"However, out of the five London boroughs of Camden, Islington, Haringey, Barnet and Enfield, we do the best in terms of setting up good care packages for patients.

"It is good that Enfield is good at getting patients out of hospital and set up in their own homes with care packages."

She admitted she would face challenges as the cuts to the local government grant continue to bite.

"There are huge health inequalities in the borough with life expectancy between the richest wards in the borough such as Grange and the poorest wards such as Edmonton of eight or nine years," she said.

"That is something we must address and look to resolving."

The other newcomers in the cabinet are Daniel Anderson, who was elected to the council in Southgate Green ward in the local elections in May last year, and Nneka Keazor, a ward councillor for Enfield Lock.

The final portfolio assignments will be announced and confirmed at the Labour group's annual meeting.

Fun and games in the street

MICHAEL COLLINS

FAMILIES gathered over home-cooked food when their street was sealed to traffic as part of a “residents’ takeover” in Edmonton.

Hydethorpe Avenue was painted in brightly-coloured designs and children took to the street to play after the one-day plan was hatched with sustainable transport charity Sustrans.

Edmonton-based community organisation Art Start led the temporary painting of students’ designs to the entrance of nearby Latymer All Saints school, hoping to discourage illegal parking.

Almost 100 residents from surrounding streets shared family recipes, cooking up dishes from countries including Turkey and Greece, while games of tug-of-war, skipping and limbo took place nearby.

Resident Lucy Georgiou, who helped organise the event, said: “It was lovely to see so many people from different cultures embracing each other in the name of community. It sent a strong, positive message to our youth. To see the children playing so freely and filling our road with their smiles and laughter was a joy to behold.”

Veronica Conti, Sustrans’ project officer, added: “It has been great to work with people in Edmonton to help make their street a place for people rather than merely a thoroughfare for cars.”

Jon’s marathon effort in memory of mum and dad

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A MAN from Enfield completed the London Marathon on Sunday for two charities in honour of his late parents.

Jon Bell, 51, of Larmans Road, Freezywater, pounded the streets of the capital in memory of his father Ron and mother Margaret.

The couple were helped by Parkinson’s UK and Marie Curie in their respective battles with Parkinson’s disease and cancer.

IT analyst Jon, who is married to Nicky and father to 16-year-old Natalie and Daniel, 21, enlisted his family’s support to complete the 26.2-mile course in four hours and 35 minutes.

Jon told the Advertiser: “It was my first and potentially only marathon. It was such a fantastic experience that I’m not sure I could top it. Running across the likes of Tower Bridge and up Embankment was incredible.”

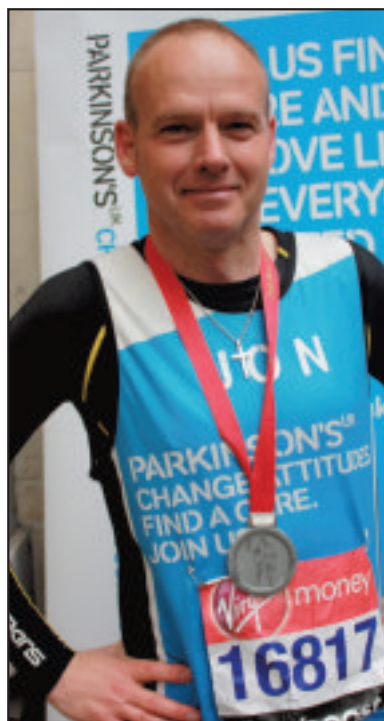

The day was particularly poignant as it marked almost exactly a year since the funeral of Jon’s father. The family said goodbye to Ron, who was in his 70s when he died, on April 24 last year.

“I ran with a small photograph of my dad and had a quick glance at a few points on the course,” said Jon. “He probably would have told me I’m bloody silly for doing it! But I think he would have been proud.”

Jon hopes to collect more than £700 and Parkinson’s UK is hoping its marathon runners will raise more than £315,000 to continue research and hopefully find a cure.

Marie Curie supports people living with terminal illnesses and their families.

Independence information for disabled teens

DISABLED young people have been given a helping hand to live independently at a special information fair.

Young people with a physical or learning disability or sight or hearing problem are offered special assessments by Enfield Council as they approach their 18th birthday to help them move into adulthood and independent living.

To assist the process, more than 100 disabled young people and their parents/carers attended the council’s Transition Market Place at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, where a variety of stalls provided them with information about independent living, post-16 education, training and lifelong learning.

Doug Taylor, the leader of the council, said: “Reaching 18 is an important milestone for all young people and we recognise that those with a disability will need the respect and support that enables them to lead as independent a life as possible as adults.”

By George: what a celebration...

By Lucy Purdy
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

DRINKS were raised and dragons slayed as part of celebrations to mark St George's Day in Enfield at the weekend.

Residents gathered at The Wonder pub, in Batley Road, on Saturday for festivities including a fancy dress competition, Morris and Irish dancing and musical performances from saxophonist Derek Nash and others.

Once all the proceeds have been collected, up to £2,000 is expected to be raised for Barnet-based Noah's Ark Children's Hospice.

The event, which is now in its third year, is organised by a group of residents, including Dougie Lee, who said the atmosphere at the weekend was "full of excitement".

He added: "The day was all about the community. St George is the patron saint of England as well as lots of other countries, so he's a symbol of the brilliantly diverse community we have in Enfield."

Hundreds of people also took part in the annual Enfield District Scout and Guide parade, which wound its way through Enfield Town on Sunday.

St George is the patron saint of several countries, including Spain, Canada, the Czech Republic, Hungary and Lebanon.

Family rescued after fire rips through block

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlnews.co.uk

A MOTHER and her children trapped when thick smoke engulfed their Ponders End home were among 11 people rescued from a blaze at a block of flats.

Fire brigade officers answering a 999 call on Thursday evening gave the woman survival guidance after she became stuck in the building in South Street with her young child and baby.

She became distressed when smoke filled the property, blocking their escape route.

Keith Diamond, brigade control duty manager, explained that officers calmed the woman down and advised her to keep low and open a window. Eventually, firefighters wearing breathing apparatus reached the flat to lead the trio to safety.

He added: "Meanwhile, control officers were speaking to other people in the flats and this allowed them to provide the initial fire crews arriving on the scene with rapid information on the location and number of people trapped inside the building so they could quickly identify where they were."

Firefighters rescued eight other people from the block, two of whom were taken by ambulance to hospital and a third who was treated at the scene. All three were suffering from smoke inhalation.

A woman and a child also left the building before firefighters arrived.

A stairwell on the second floor of the four-floor block was gutted in the blaze.

Five fire engines and about 31 firefighters and officers from Enfield, Edmonton and Chingford attended at about 6.40pm and had the fire under control by 8.15pm.

The cause of the fire is being investigated.

Council urged to hurry up and register listed building as valued asset

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THE future of Trent Park's listed mansion remains in doubt, with a warning that time is running out to resolve its fate.

The campaign to protect the Mansion House is still unresolved despite public pressure. More than 400 people attended a meeting to discuss the issue in March.

The striking building is visited by nearly one million people each year, but faces an uncertain future after Malaysia's Allience University College of Medical Sciences, the owners since August 2013, have reportedly run into financial trouble.

The building was sold to them by Middlesex University.

David Burrowes, who is seeking to retain his seat as MP for Enfield Southgate in the general election on May 7, this week called upon Enfield Council to "stop dragging its feet".

He urged the authority to make the decision to register the mansion house as a community asset of value to help secure the building's future.

A petition set up to protect the building has attracted almost 3,800 signatures.

Campaigners would like to secure permanent public access to the grounds surrounding the mansion and see a "long-term public use" adopted, that would preserve and promote the building's history.

English Heritage has placed the building on its at risk register. A spokeswoman for the charity said that both the grade II listed park and terrace are among its "highest priorities".

A spokesman from the council's Labour group said: "Trent Park mansion is an important asset to Enfield and must be protected. A working group has been set up, cross party, to look at this issue and how best the house, and its significant heritage, can be saved for the future.

"The council is currently looking at the idea proposed of making the mansion a community asset, but there is still much work to be done in accordance with the government's Localism Act. We have, however, committed to doing our utmost to preserve this important building."

Football club's play-off place under threat

Town could be docked points

By Dominique Stafford
sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

ENFIELD TOWN Football Club have vowed to appeal against a Football Association verdict which has put their place in the Ryman League Premier Division play-offs under threat.

Town claimed a 2-0 victory at home to Witham Town on the final day of the season on Saturday, theoretically ensuring that they claimed fifth place in the table – and a coveted spot in the play-offs.

However, the club's promotion dreams were dramatically put on hold last week when the FA found them guilty of fielding an ineligible player earlier in the season and left them facing the threat of a three-point deduction, which would seem them fall to seventh position.

Town are adamant that they are innocent in the matter, which dates back to two matches played by midfielder Aryan Tajbakhsh shortly after he joined the club in January.

At that stage Tajbakhsh was facing a suspension due to the number of bookings he had picked up earlier in the season while playing for Cheshunt and VCD Athletic.

But Town were unaware of this as the player had not been registered properly by his previous clubs, meaning that the FA had three separate records for Tajbakhsh.

Officials from Town later discovered that he should have been suspended and informed the FA, who asked them not to pick Tajbakhsh for their next two matches.

The club complied with this instruction and say they were informed by the FA in February that no further action would be taken.

Nevertheless, officials from Town were suddenly informed on Monday last week that they had been charged with fielding an ineligible player and were found guilty at a hearing on Wednesday.

A club statement said: "Given the circumstances the club will be likely to appeal.

"We are bewildered at the decision

ANNE MARIE SANDERSON

Protest: Supporters before the last game of the season on Saturday given that it is accepted that the club did nothing wrong and it was impossible to know the incorrect records made by other clubs.

"We believe the stance of the FA on this matter has far-reaching consequences for football and may encourage others not to report discrepancies in the future."

Club chairman Paul Reed added: "The fact that so many officials, players, managers and supporters of other clubs have taken the time to show their support demonstrates to me how strong the sense of injustice is across the non-league community.

"The backing shown to the club reinforces the board's view that we need to fight this all the way."

The club are taking legal advice. The FA declined to comment.

The play-off semi-final against Hendon, which was due to be played tomorrow night, has been postponed. No new date had been confirmed by the time the Advertiser went to press.

They'll be dancing in the street

Best feet forward: Walkers on last year's night hike

HUNDREDS of charity fundraisers are set to take part in Enfield's annual night-time walkathon around the borough next month.

The Enfield Night Hike, now in its fourth year, has become firmly established as a fun-filled event and places are still available for residents and anyone else who wants to take part.

This year's 15-kilometre walk is being held on Friday, May 22, and will once again raise money for the Nightingale Cancer Support Centre, in Lancaster Road, Enfield, and Noah's Ark Children's Hospice, in Barnet.

As in previous years, walkers are encouraged to dress up, with many donning flashing deely-bopper headbands and neon wristbands, provided on entry. This year's theme is disco party night and Enfield Council's Everybody Active Team, the organisers of the event, are encouraging people to put on their glad rags and dancing shoes and strut their funky stuff.

Entry costs £15 and can be made online by visiting www.enfield.gov.uk/enfieldnighthike.

Deputy council leader Achilleas Georgiou said: "The Enfield Night Hike is a really popular event and enormous fun to take part in. I urge people to get dressed up and boogie on down round the route and help us raise lots of money for two fantastic causes."

Last year more than 450 people took part and raised £14,571.38.

Teen broke boy's leg in car smash

Driver sentenced to two years in a young offenders' institution following police chase

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER who drove into an 11-year-old boy and broke his leg has pleaded guilty to causing serious injury by dangerous driving.

Aaron Shomade, 19, of Galliard Road, Edmon-ton, admitted the offence at Wood Green Crown Court and was sentenced to a total of two years and two months in a young offenders' institution.

Shomade was driving his silver Ford Focus in Arnos Grove at about 3.45pm on February 4 when he spotted some police officers.

He drove on to a kerb and over a traffic island before going the wrong way around a roundabout.

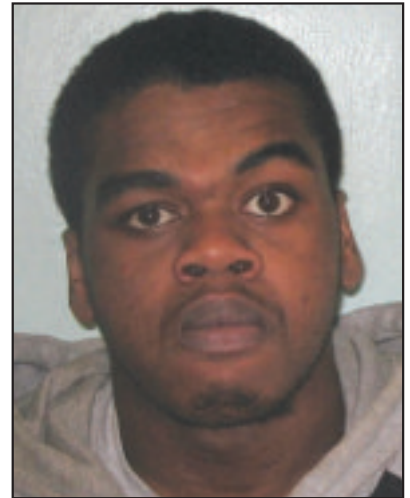

He failed to stop after the officers pursued him and then was seen crossing to the wrong side of the road to overtake traffic, running a red light, before turning into Station Road.

At some stage, Shomade's car struck the boy, breaking his leg.

He finally drove into the side of a bus in Palmers Road, left his car and was detained by police in Highview Gardens.

His sentence includes 22 months for causing injury by dangerous driving and four months for breaching an Anti-Social Behaviour Order. He was also disqualified from driving for two years.

He was charged with driving with no insurance, two counts of breaching an ASBO, dangerous driving, driving not in accordance with a licence and causing serious injury by dangerous driving.

Sergeant Craig Martin, from Enfield's Gangs Unit, said: "I hope this is a stark reminder of the consequences of driving a vehicle dangerously and without the appropriate licence."

Putting animals on the agenda

ONE notable thing about this election is that it seems animal welfare is on the agenda.

On wildlife crime, the Conservatives pledge to continue their strong work in the battle to combat the illegal wildlife trade, Labour recognises the importance of fighting wildlife cybercrime and the Lib Dems and Greens want to increase penalties so that wildlife crime does not pay.

Protection for British wildlife varies widely between parties. If the Conservatives win, the controversial badger cull may be extended across the country, while Labour and the Greens would abandon it and the Liberal Democrats say they'll look at the evidence from the pilot culls.

Labour and the Greens have pledged to protect the hunting ban, the SNP (while it doesn't mention it in its manifesto) opposes hunting with dogs, while the Conservatives want to "give parliament the opportunity to repeal the hunting act on a free vote".

Of course, many individual candidates go further than their own parties in their support for animal welfare, including an increasing number of anti-hunt Tories.

If animal issues matter to you, we can help you decide where to place your cross.

Will she bring back our A&E?

JOAN Ryan says that Chase Farm could become "little more than a cottage hospital" under a future Tory government.

Could she therefore confirm unequivocally that a future Labour government would not only reverse any service reductions, but would also reinstate an accident and emergency department?

How calm seas led to salvation for our soldiers

THE war in Europe ended 70 years ago, on May 8, 1945.

With this important anniversary about to take place, I think your readers would be interested in the old photograph, right, depicting events which took place almost exactly five years earlier, dramatically revealing just how close we came to losing.

When the British Army became trapped at Dunkirk, in sheer desperation, King George VI called for a National Day of Prayer to be held on May 26, 1940.

In a national broadcast he instructed the people of the UK to turn back to God in a spirit of repentance and plead for divine help.

Millions across the British Isles flocked into churches pleading for deliverance.

This photograph shows the extraordinary scene outside Westminster Abbey as people queued for prayer.

Two events immediately followed. Firstly, a violent storm arose over the Dunkirk region grounding the Luftwaffe, which had been killing thousands of soldiers on the beaches.

Secondly, a calm descended on the English Channel, the like of which had not been seen for a generation, which allowed hundreds of tiny boats to sail across and rescue 335,000 soldiers.

The Channel became like a mill pond. From then on people referred to what happened as "the miracle of Dunkirk".

Sunday, June 9, was officially appointed as a Day of National Thanksgiving.

Had it not been for that violent storm and Channel calm, the British Army would have been destroyed and the war lost.

20mph zones would speed journeys up!

K BROWN ("A total silence on air pollution") and Phil Tsappas ("20mph limit benefits us all") contributed excellent, and related, letters on April 22.

Why related? Because in London, poor air quality is caused mainly by traffic and the absence of a default 20mph speed limit hinders efforts to encourage people to walk or cycle.

Coincidentally, in a recent BBC radio broadcast, Professor Susan Jebb, a leading researcher, discussed the causes of obesity, including insufficient exercise.

She made the point that it's not worth lecturing people about these things if, at the same time, you have created an environment which subverts good intentions. And subvert good intentions we have.

Take a ton or two of metal and add permission to speed which bears no relationship to fragile human bodies, encourage that speed by confining people on pavements and on specified carriageway crossings, do what you can to blame victims – "She/he wasn't wearing high-viz clothing, wasn't wearing a helmet, was too young, dashed out in front of me".

How daft can a society get? No wonder kids don't learn to exercise as a matter of course by walking or biking to school, no wonder they can't play outside even on a purely residential street.

And, in the current context of Cycle Enfield, no wonder adults plead with me (I'm 77) not to ride my bike, young people are even afraid of biking, parents are afraid to let their children out of their sight – all this is in a city, a place for people.

But, magically, an observed 20mph changes everything. Traffic can stop quickly, injuries are few and rarely serious and walkers/bikers stop feeling threatened. Even more magically, journey times are often shorter because many pedestrian crossings and traffic lights could be removed – excellent for improving borough-wide and poor air quality hotspots.

Why was there not a warning?

I AM shocked that Enfield Council failed to issue a public health warning back in 2013. The Advertiser last week ("Store told to pay for mouse trouble", April 22) reported that inspectors discovered food on sale "rodent-damaged" and "smelling of urine" before Christmas 2013.

Why did the council fail to advise customers who had already bought suspect foodstuffs not to consume it and to seek cash refunds?

Why did it take 16 months or so to get the case before magistrates with resultant publicity?

It makes me wonder how many people, by even just simply handling the food wrappers with traces of mice urine, may have suffered an unpleasant Christmas with symptoms of salmonella and gastroenteritis.

We must talk about Israel

THERE has been little discussion of foreign policy in the run-up to the general election but it is important for many people in the UK, in particular the Middle East.

In Enfield Southgate, David Burrows' strong 'pro-Israel' stance should perhaps be more widely known than it is. He has stated that Israel is a "beacon of democracy", voiced his support for the blockade of Gaza, his opposition to recognition of Palestine and his admiration for settlement factories in the West Bank.

Regarding the treatment of Palestinian children under military rule in the West Bank, which includes imprisonment and solitary confinement for the crime of throwing stones, he has stated that the fundamental problem is Palestinian adults infecting their children with hatred. Many will be pleased with all this, others will not but either way it should be clearly on the record so that voters can make an informed choice.

Protect our local papers!

THE Enfield Advertiser has served our borough for decades. It is one of the only sources of Enfield-dedicated reporting which residents receive through their doors on a weekly basis.

Despite journalism increasingly moving to digital platforms, the power of the printed word remains very powerful – especially when it comes to holding politicians to account. The Advertiser deserves its reputation for investigative reporting. So long as its future is secure, local democracy will remain strong.

Doug Taylor's council administration is choosing to spend £129,000 a year funding Our Enfield – a glossy magazine that mostly features good news stories about Labour councillors. There is no room for critical analysis of council decisions whatsoever – only our local papers provide this. I therefore urge Mr Taylor to do what's best for residents: scrap Our Enfield and start supporting our local papers instead.

SUMMER IS NEARLY UPON US
It's nearly May, and its time now to prepare for the summer... at the moment you want to shed summer clothes, swimsuits and getting off the weight from the long long winter. Not everyone greets the hot weather with joy. The hot summer months can be uncomfortable for many but when you are carrying extra weight it can become really uncomfortable and oppressive. Not only that, but it can also cause barriers to physical activity. Summer clothes are often short, brief and unforgiving. Swimwear and beachwear is even worse and some people are too embarrassed to face their own family in their swimsuits, so could not even begin to imagine flaunting themselves on a beach or in a swimming pool packed with strangers. So, if you're overweight and find the mere thought of ditching your cardigans for more revealing clothing brings you out in prickly heat, why not make this the year that you unveil a slimmer, healthier and more confident you? We have several new groups beginning this month, and you still have time to make a difference this summer if you start now!!
We have lots of clients coming in at the moment who want to shed some weight before their holidays, because lots of us wait till the last minute to address weight loss, and of course most of us understand that the last minute dash is never going to work as a long term solution to our weight management. Booking a holiday is often the trigger that will kickstart you into action, because when we look back retrospectively we will say 'why didn't I do something earlier'. We at Practically Slim know how hard the job of weight management can be especially when life throws some crap at us. Ask yourself, how much of a problem does my weight have to get before I do something? Get ready for summer, get ready for action, and don't be alone. Why not contact me for a free consultation and together we can work on a solution especially tailored to your own needs?

In memory: A member of the Royal British Legion plants an almond tree

Crowd's tribute to Gallipoli

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

GALLIPOLI troops were remembered in a ceremony to mark 100 years since the start of the disastrous World War I campaign.

Royal British Legion members, Murat Nalcaci, from the Turkish Consulate, Garry Manley, from the New Zealand High Commission, Captain Ken Semmens, from the Australian High Commission and the Queen's representative Deputy Lieutenant Ann Cable were among the onlookers on Sunday.

Some 100 people gathered in the Memorial Gardens in Broomfield Park, Palmers Green.

More than 100,000 lost their lives in the conflict on the Gallipoli headland in Turkey which raged from April 25, 1915, until January 1916.

Troops from the British Empire and France battled enemy soldiers in a bid to capture the capital of the Ottoman Empire – Constantinople.

Yasemin Brett, Enfield Council's cabinet member for community organisations, said: "By planting an almond tree in the garden we were united in honouring those who made the ultimate sacrifice in a tragic military campaign."

ENFIELD NORTH

ELECTION 2015
The nation decides Thursday May 7

Joan Ryan – Labour

She served as Enfield North MP from 1997 to 2010, fighting for the issues that matter to people in Enfield. Before politics, she was a teacher for 14 years. After 2010, she returned to teaching and became chairwoman of a healthcare charity. She has lived in Enfield with her family for nearly 20 years and is a mum and a grandmother.

"Being your MP is about helping to make the future better for us all. I promise to stand by Chase Farm Hospital for our community; help all of Enfield's children get the best education; help give young people a start in work; help working families with lower taxes and an £8 minimum wage; and help more people get a foot on to the housing ladder. I will always put Enfield first and continue to campaign on behalf of people who live in Enfield, meeting local people and listening to their concerns. I am committed to making Enfield a better place."

Nick de Bois – Conservative

He was first elected as MP for Enfield North in 2010. Born into a Royal Air Force family, before entering parliament he founded and ran his own exhibition and event management company for 25 years. Nick is married with four children and two stepchildren.

"I want to continue my work rebuilding confidence in politics after the previous MP was caught up in the expenses scandal. As my voting record shows, I'm an independent-minded MP that puts residents first, not party whips. I've proved I can build cross-party consensus on important issues like knife crime and investment in health services. I've held four Jobs Fairs to help local people find work – something I will continue doing. Constituent issues are important to me. I've won some battles and lost some, but as the MP I'm here to fight your corner."

Cara Jenkinson – Liberal Democrat

She grew up in north London and is half-Greek Cypriot. She has 20 years' experience in IT management and serves as a magistrate on the North London Bench as well as being a governor of two schools. She has have two teenage children at state schools.

"As a Liberal Democrat I am proud that we are the only party to commit to protecting the school budget both for the rise in pupil numbers and inflation. Our plan for the economy will cut less than the Tories and borrow less than Labour, and will allow us to invest in transport, our public services and move to a greener economy. Liberal Democrats will address the acute housing shortage in Enfield by giving councils more financial flexibilities to build more affordable, energy efficient homes. We will invest £8billion to improve our NHS and guarantee equal care for mental health."

David Flint – Greens

A retired computer consultant, family man and amateur sailor who's lived in Enfield for 26 years, he "wants a UK to be proud of – not the least equal EU country and America's pool". He's campaigned on open government, safer streets, renewable energy and the NHS.

"We face social, political and environmental crises. The social crisis is poverty, inequality, debt, overpriced housing and a struggling NHS. The number of visits to foodbanks has risen 14-fold since 2010. The Greens would raise the minimum wage and curtail benefit sanctions. The political crisis is the lack of public engagement and excessive corporate power. And Scotland! The Greens offer a real choice and would reform party funding and make every vote count by introducing proportional representation. The environmental crisis is the loss of wild animals (50 per cent in 40 years) and climate change. The Greens would tax fossil fuels and create green jobs."

Deborah Cairns – UKIP

She is a mother and a grandmother and says family is very important to her. She believes in community and locality. "I only really got into politics just over a year ago, before which I was a disengaged voter," she says. "I live in Enfield North and see the problems in the local area."

"UKIP will take the minimum wage earners out of the tax bracket who are earning £13,000 or less, end zero hour contracts, abolish inheritance tax and increase the married couple's allowance to £1,500. The NHS will be kept free at the point of delivery, end 'health tourism' and scrap car parking charges within hospital grounds. We will scrap the bedroom tax, end Atos-style work assessments and increase the carers' allowance by £572 more per year. We will also put 800 advisers into 800 foodbanks to help with other issues. We'll fund this by leaving the EU and cutting foreign aid."

Joe Simpson – Trade Union and Socialist Coalition

He is currently an assistant general secretary of the Prison Officers' Association and works in Enfield for the trade union. Alongside members he has fought against prison privatisation and for union rights. He is originally from Sunderland in the North East, where he went to school until he joined the Navy in 1980.

"The Trade Unionist and Socialist Coalition argues that working-class people should not pay for a crisis they did not cause. Scrap zero hour contracts, which exploit the working class. Build high-standard, affordable council housing. Stop privatisation, including the NHS, and provide good free education with student grants, not fees. Re-nationalise all rail, bus and ferry services to build an integrated, low-pollution public transport system. Take Royal Mail back into public ownership, along with prisons, probation and all other parts of the justice system."

Yemi Awolola – Christian Peoples Alliance

A qualified plumber, he started Fair Price Plumbing & Heating Ltd and also runs as part of a committee the Enfield Gospel Festival once a year in July. He has been a Sunday school teacher for more than a decade, is a qualified football coach and started and runs Riverside FC.

"Unequivocal support for the family and free counselling in the area of drug and alcohol additions. A £5,000 grant on the occasion of a married couple's first child following three training sessions in child rearing. Repeal of the 1967 Abortion Act and a call for more adoptions. A completely transferable tax allowance within marriage. Tackle child poverty by introducing new child tax allowance of £2,373 per child to all parents up to five per family. Encourage fairer distribution of generated wealth and ensure fair taxation. Encourage sustainable fuels, sustainable environment and sustainable living."

PM defends record during factory visit

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

PRIME Minister David Cameron addressed factory shop-floor workers on Tuesday morning, delivering a keynote speech on the economy during a visit to the Edmonton constituency.

The Tory leader was at the factory of navigation and surveillance equipment manufacturers Kelvin Hughes, in Mollison Avenue, Ponders End.

In the glare of TV camera lights and photographers' flashbulbs, he dismissed claims that figures released earlier showing UK economic growth had slowed in the last three months did not contradict his assertion the economy was safe in the government's hands.

Speaking to the Advertiser after his speech, when asked whether the economy was beginning to stagnate, he said: "Hold on a second, the economy is growing by 0.3 per cent in the last quarter – that is not stagnating, that is still growth."

And he denied the Conservatives' announcement on Tuesday that it would create 50,000 new apprenticeships funded by fines imposed on Deutsche

Vote for me: David Cameron addresses workers at Kelvin Hughes

Bank for interest rate rigging would see more young people trapped in low-paying, so-called poverty wage jobs.

He said: "The point about apprenticeships is that they lead to people earning a higher wage in the rest of their working lives. Many people take on an apprenticeship knowing that it is going to lead to a better career and a higher standard of pay."

"Also we're helping by taking low paid people out of income tax – we've got a growing economy and we're creating jobs and the apprenticeships are a good way of giving people the chance of having a higher paid job in the future."

He also dismissed criticism of the Tories' expansion of the right-to-buy scheme to housing association tenants – which some fear will reduce the capital's social housing stock, putting further pressure on inner London councils to rehouse homeless families in outer London boroughs such as Enfield.

He said: "You can use the receipts of people buying their own homes to build more housing association houses, plus we're asking councils to sell off the most expensive council properties when they become vacant to build more available homes."

Boris boxes clever

TORY big hitter Boris Johnson patiently posed for selfie after being mobbed by star-struck schoolchildren in Enfield Town on Monday.

The Mayor of London stood on a hastily improvised soapbox in Church Street as he issued a rallying cry urging people to vote for Enfield North's Tory candidate Nick de Bois on May 7.

For the second time in the space of a month, Mr Johnson attempted a walkabout through hordes of shoppers and schoolchildren in Enfield.

But his pace along Church Street was hampered by celebrity spotters eager to get a picture with him.

Despite being surrounded by local activists and councillors, not every shopper he encountered in the town was as keen to shake his hand and pat him on the back.

Linzi Clarke, of Windmill Hill, Enfield, who is studying for "the knowledge", so that she can become a London black cab driver, and who is currently working part time in a florist's, demanded to know what Mr Johnson would do to make taxi company Uber adhere to the same strict regulations as other forms of public transport in the capital.

Speaking to the Advertiser after confronting Mr Johnson, she said: "The person who is in charge of TfL at the moment isn't enforcing Uber and so I said to Boris that he's not securing the future of a trade that has been going for hundreds of years."

"He's saying that he's going to bring in regulation, that the drivers are going to have an English test. But he said all of this before about Addison Lee before and nothing has ever been done about it. I'm doing something to secure my son's future and if he just lets Uber carry on it will be pointless."

Mr Johnson said of the forthcoming vote: "I disapprove of any kind of smugness about elections. I believe that the sovereign people will decide and the most important thing is that Nick has been a fantastic local MP for people."

Lend me your ears: Boris Johnson with Enfield North candidate Nick de Bois

 to home ownership in London

Neville Watson – UKIP

He is married with three children. He has been a community advocate and mentor for more than 25 years. He is fervent about his Christian faith, which he says validates his life because it's through that prism that he views the world. He says he has a passion for people and helping them raise their levels of expectation.

"A community is only as strong as its most vulnerable so we will integrate health and social care under the control of the NHS, protect day/ home care centres and meals on wheels and increase carers' allowances to match job seekers, offer wrap-around childcare before and after school for every school-age child, end sex education at primary level and make first aid training part of the national curriculum, and bring empty homes back into use and build more homes on brownfield sites for social housing."

Kate Osamor – Labour

Kate Osamor has lived in north London her whole life. She has worked for the NHS for more than 15 years, currently working as a GP practice manager at an Enfield GP surgery. Her son was born in North Middlesex University Hospital and many of her family live in Edmonton. She works on the front line and sees the effect of government policies on the NHS. A community and trade union activist, she is a trustee on a women's charity based in Edmonton Green, helping local people to cope with stagnant wages and rising prices. She pledges to continue Andy Love's work, get the Tories out and return a Labour government in a general election that is one of the most important in a generation.

"Labour will recruit 20,000 more nurses and 8,000 more GPs; freeze gas and electricity bill increases until 2017; get 200,000 homes built by 2020, creating up to 230,000 construction jobs; and will invest £250million into front-line policing. I will be a visible and an accountable MP."

Lewis Peacock – Trade Unionist and Socialist

He has lived in Edmonton almost all his life and his son went to school in the area. He has worked in the MK Electrics factory in Edmonton and is now an RMT union rep on the Underground. He was involved with Bob Crow in fighting privatisation on the Underground by Labour. In the community he was an anti-poll tax activist.

"Since the financial crash real wages have gone down, rents have gone up and banks have been bailed out. The big parties say we need more cuts – after £80billion cuts from the last government. At the same time bankers took £80bn in bonuses. Areas like Edmonton have been abandoned by the establishment. TUSC is against austerity and against privatisation. We are for rent control and council house building and for a publicly provided NHS. We call for a £10-an-hour minimum wage now. Labour has abandoned us we need a real worker voice."

Gonul Daniels – Conservative

She is a working woman from an ethnic background, a wife and mother of four children. She has run her own business and worked in schools, local government, parliament and the Bank of England. She is actively involved in the local community, is chairwoman of governors at Ashmole Academy, in Southgate, and campaigned successfully to increase school places.

"I will not take Edmonton for granted and will fight for the issues that matter to the people of Edmonton, pressuring the local Labour-run council to invest in a neglected Edmonton and bringing Edmonton's issues to parliament's attention. I will work with a Conservative government to build a prosperous, safer Edmonton by:

- Driving up standards at your child's school
- Tackling the gang and knife crime on our streets
- Doubling free child care
- Increasing tax free allowances to £12,500
- Freezing rail fares for five years
- Helping businesses create jobs and apprenticeships in Edmonton
- Ensuring affordable housing for first-time buyers
- Investing in the NHS in Edmonton."

Douglas Coker – Green

He has lived in Bush Hill Park since 1998. He has been self-employed and taught politics at Hackney College. Concern over climate change prompted him to join the Green Party in 2005. He also campaigns with the Enfield Alliance Against The Cuts.

"We need an alternative to austerity. The government created £375billion to prop up the banks. It's time to invest in Edmonton. Let's have more affordable homes which are energy efficient and comfortable. We also need to invest in publicly provided health, transport and education services. All this will create much-needed jobs. Inequality and climate change are serious problems which must be dealt with. Voting Green means you are casting an anti-austerity vote. This is the way to show the grey parties they are not green enough and not progressive enough."

David Schmitz – Liberal Democrat

He was born in the States of Austrian refugees and has lived in the UK for 40 years. He lives with his partner Valerie and two small children. He is a barrister specialising in property and housing litigation. A former Haringey councillor, he says he became active in politics when the house next door became a crack den and the Labour council proved useless at dealing with it.

"The Liberal Democrats are the only major party that places proper emphasis on social justice, civil liberties and the environment. Instead of going along with George Osborne's promise of a huge cut in inheritance tax, we took the first £10,500 of people's earnings out of the income tax net and introduced the pupil premium which benefits schools with the largest number of pupils on free school meals. Our plans for £8billion extra to the NHS and for protecting education spending for all ages 0 to 19 are the most generous of any party. For us, the phrase: "A strong economy and a fair society" is not just an election slogan: it's what we're all about."

David Schofield – UKIP

He is a lifelong Enfield resident, who was born in Chase Farm Hospital, and attended schools in the constituency. He is a former Enfield councillor having represented Southgate Green ward from 2002 to 2006. His background has been in self-employed sales including disability aid products and training services.

"Despite the investment going into the rebuilding of Chase Farm Hospital, the proposed size of the development for services has been reduced from the original plan and does not include the reopening of the accident and emergency facility closed by a Conservative health secretary. I will continue to argue that A&E should be restored and will campaign for additional investment into G P and care services. I will demand urgent action to deliver needed primary and secondary school places in the borough. The waste framework and landfill directives from the European Union have placed impossible recycling targets and this, along with austerity budget cuts, have led to councils introducing alternate general waste and recycling collections. I will resist any plans Enfield Council may have to introduce fortnightly refuse bin collections."

Bambos Charalambous – Labour

He grew up in the area, went to local schools and has served as a councillor for Palmers Green for 21 years. He's a passionate advocate for Enfield Southgate and has fought for a better deal for residents, including redevelopment of Palmers Green Library and increasing school places. He is a governor at Eversley Primary School and St Michael at Bowes Junior School.

"I have been campaigning and listening to the concerns of residents for many years. I am committed to delivering more, good, local school places, providing 25 hours a week free child care for working parents of three and four-year-olds and investing in our NHS to ensure it is a service we are proud of and meets the needs of our community. Labour will freeze VAT, energy bills and business rates for small and medium-sized businesses to get our economy moving. As your MP, I will continue to listen to you, bring improvements and fight for a better Enfield Southgate."

The runners and riders...

VOTERS in the borough's three parliamentary constituencies go to the polls next week to choose who will be their MP.

Just how different the political landscape will be after May 7 depends on whether the mainstream parties' core support holds up, or whether wavering voters switch to smaller parties.

That could be crucial in Enfield North, where Labour's Joan Ryan is hoping to regain the seat she lost in 2010, by overturning the slender 1,692-vote majority of Tory Nick De Bois.

The Enfield Southgate seat is no stranger to shock results as can be recalled when in 1997 Defence Secretary Michael Portillo unexpectedly lost to Labour's Stephen Twigg. This time round Bambos Charalambous is hoping to overturn Tory David Burrowes' 7,626-vote majority.

It seems likely that Edmonton will have its first woman MP as Labour's Kate Osamor inherits a 9,613 majority from retiring Andy Love.

David Burrowes – Conservative

He was elected the MP for Enfield Southgate in 2005. He is married to Janet and they have six children. He has lived in Enfield Southgate all his life, was a local councillor, and worked as a solicitor specialising in criminal law before entering parliament.

"I speak my mind and get things done, putting your interests first and helping the vulnerable. When Gary McKinnon was facing extradition to the United States, I stopped it, which saved his life. I support our long-term economic plan, which has secured more jobs in Enfield than ever before, and I need to be re-elected to help get the job of recovery done. With Nick de Bois, I helped to secure £275million for the redevelopment of Chase Farm Hospital and toughened up knife crime laws. I will campaign to get better access to GPs seven days a week and continue to tackle knife crime."

Jean Robertson-Molloy – Green

She is a retired social worker and worked at Chase Farm psychiatric unit for four years. She has also worked with families and in child protection. A one-time Labour supporter, she realised only the Greens had the policies which embodied her ideals of equality and fairness for all.

"Green Party policies include improving air quality in this country and working to combat the effects of climate change on the whole planet. Here in Enfield Southgate, I have worked to get a 20mph limit in Hoppers Road and to improve traffic conditions for the good of all road users. We would tackle poverty by abolishing policies which punish the poor and instead bring in fairer taxes on the rich. We would build more affordable homes than the other "big" parties, make sure there are enough decently paid jobs for all, improve public transport and re-nationalise the railways"

Paul D Smith – Liberal Democrat

Married with two teenage children, he has lived, worked and raised his family in Enfield. He is a scientist by training and a computer programmer by profession, and says: "I went from council house, to comprehensive, to Oxford, and I believe that everyone should have the same opportunities that I had, regardless of background."

"Since 2010 the Liberal Democrats have delivered the Pupil Premium, increased the lowest tax threshold, increased apprenticeships, ensured a minimum 2.5 per cent rise for state pensions, enshrined Britain's commitment to international aid in law, ended detention of children in immigration centres and vetoed the 'snoopers' charter'. For 2015 we pledge to provide an extra, fully costed, £8billion for the NHS, tackle tax avoidance by multinational companies and individuals, ensure all children have qualified teachers, increase mental health provision, build more homes, bring rehabilitation to prisons to reduce reoffending, give votes to 16-year-olds and protect our place in Europe."

Question time: BBC Radio 5 Live held a hustings with presenter Rachel Burden and five candidates – Cara Jenkinson, Deborah Cairns, Nick de Bois, David Flint and Joan Ryan

Rivals clash over 'broken promises'

Voters grill candidates during hustings meeting

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE eyes of the nation will be glued to the battle for Enfield North on May 7 as both Labour and the Conservatives anxiously wait to see if they can scrape a victory in the tightly fought seat.

In an election where every seat desperately matters as the chance of an overall majority for either party looks increasingly slim, attention has turned to the marginal seat of Enfield North, where Conservative Nick de Bois narrowly wrested the seat from Labour incumbent Joan Ryan in 2010 with a slender majority of 1,692.

Five candidates in the upcoming battle – Mr de Bois, Mrs Ryan, Liberal Democrat Cara Jenkinson, David Flint, of the Greens, and UKIP's Deborah Cairns – debated their competing visions for Enfield in a live broadcast for BBC Radio 5 Live on Tuesday morning in an upstairs room of the Enfield Islamic Centre, in Hertford Road, Ponders End.

Joe Simpson, who is standing for the Trade Union and Socialist Coalition, and Yemi Awolola, of the Christian Peoples' Alliance, did not attend the event.

Given a chance to impress listeners and those gathered in the room, Mrs Ryan returned to her key campaign focus of David Cameron's broken promises over keeping the accident and emergency and maternity units at Chase Farm Hospital open.

Responding to her attack, Mr de Bois hit back, saying: "I think we should be very clear about this, that in 2008 the Labour government made the decision to downgrade the hospital."

"Then along comes my party leader and says this won't happen and, of course, that utterly let down my constituents in my party."

"None of the major parties can take any credit," added Mr de Bois.

"What we now need to focus on is we have secured a £275million investment in bringing all existing services at the hospital together in a new, four-storey building that will be the first investment in this hospital for over 40 years."

Seizing on the Conservative candidate's admission that his party had "let down constituents", the shadow health secretary Andy Burnham issued a statement shortly after the radio programme aired.

Labour MP Mr Burnham said: "Even the Tories are admitting that David Cameron let people down when he broke his promises on the NHS."

"David Cameron posed with a picture pledging to save the A&E at Chase Farm, then closed it."

"The promises he made when it was closed – of an urgent care centre and better GP services – have not been honoured."

During the debate, Norma Clarke, who said she would be voting for UKIP, explained: "I'm a retired lecturer. We need to take control of our borders."

"The infrastructure of our country will fold up – it is folding up now."

Also in the audience was Enfield North farmer David Mwanaka, who said: "My family are from Zimbabwe."

"They used to vote Labour – I would say all my brothers and their children would vote Labour."

"But this time around I have noticed that some in my language are speaking the Conservative language."

"I'm still a floating voter, but I am hoping that by the end of the day I will have landed somewhere."

NEWS

Choir ready for third birthday

By Julia Gregory

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A CHOIR led by a singer who has performed with stage stars including Luciano Pavarotti is preparing a series of concerts to mark its third anniversary.

The Enfield Community Singers was set up by Simon Gilbert, who sang the hit number The Impossible Dream in the 1972 film Man of La Mancha starring Peter O'Toole.

He also performed at the Edinburgh Festival in the opera Orfeo with soprano Joan Sutherland and in La Boheme with Pavarotti in 1973.

Recalling his first impressions of the great Italian tenor, he said: "It was wonderful. He was destined for stardom."

His West End appearances include playing alongside Ginger Rogers in Mame at the Theatre Royal Drury Lane and in Showboat with Cleo Laine at the Adelphi Theatre.

He later ran his own musical touring company.

Mr Gilbert said: "Our repertoire of well-loved songs includes wonderful selections from Les Miserables and The Pajama Game, a terrific Dixie medley and favourites from the 1960s and we encourage audiences to join in at every opportunity."

"It's great seeing something gradually grow to a really good choral sound. It's a joint effort with our musical director Laurence Payner."

Enfield Community Singers is performing free concerts at Holy Trinity Church, in Green Lanes, Winchmore Hill, on Friday at 7pm, at St Mary Magdalene Church, in Windmill Hill, Enfield, on Thursday, May 16, at Trinity at Bowes, in Palmerston Road, Palmers Green, on Thursday, May 28, at St Andrew's Church, in the Market Square, Enfield Town, on Saturday, June 20, and at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, on Sunday, July 5.

Donations on the door will go to Cancer Research, Age UK or St John's Hospice.

The choir meets on Mondays at Holy Trinity Church from 11am to 1pm and at Millfield Arts Centre, in Silver Street, Edmonton, on Tuesdays from 7pm to 9pm. Further details about getting involved are available at simon@letthepeople sing.co.uk or on 020 8360 7386.

Operation Spyder Tackling Vehicle Crime in Enfield

Car crime is down by almost a third. 1303 fewer victims (as compared to the previous 12 months to 04/03/2015) let's keep up the good work – Don't make it easy for thieves

Some key tips that can deter car thieves

- ▶ Keep your vehicle clean and tidy inside out. Don't leave tools, satellite navigation systems, cash and other valuable equipment in your vehicle.
- ▶ Activate alarms and central locking if fitted. Be sure to deactivate Bluetooth if your satnav is left in the vehicle boot, glove box or side pockets.

ELECTION 2015
The nation decides Tuesday May 7

In the pink: Harriet Harman, Joan Ryan and Diane Abbott with campaigners

Pink is the colour

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A DISTINCTIVELY fuchsia hue descended on Enfield North yesterday (Tuesday) as Labour's pink bus swooped into the marginal constituency, carrying on board party big-wig Harriet Harman to try to clinch the vote.

A tight fight is expected come next week's election between Labour candidate Joan Ryan and her Conservative rival for the constituency, Nick de Bois, who has served as MP since 2010.

He took the seat from Mrs Ryan with a majority of just 1,692 votes five years ago.

Diane Abbott, MP for Hackney North and Stoke Newington and a former Labour leadership hopeful, also came to Enfield with the pink-themed posse heading out to canvass after meeting supporters at Celbic Hall, in Lancaster Road.

Labour deputy leader Ms Harman told the Advertiser she believed Mrs Ryan was the best choice for local residents because she "gets things done".

"Joan combines being a very effective politician without losing a strong sense of the people she is serving," she said. "She remains grounded.

"This constituency deserves better, someone who won't break promises in their election manifestos. Enfield North needs respite from broken promises."

Labour is pledging to provide tax breaks to employers who pay the living wage.

Mrs Ryan says ONS figures show that one third of women in Enfield North were earning less than the living wage in 2014, higher than the national average of one quarter.

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Semone's book recounts her remarkable journey

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A WOMAN has detailed the ups and downs of her rollercoaster life in an autobiography that she hopes will inspire others to see that there is "always hope".

Semone Deon King, 55, of Lytton Avenue, Enfield Lock, penned her autobiography A Rose Amongst Thorns after returning from nearly a decade of living in Orlando, Florida.

"I was looking for work when I came back here and nothing was happening, so one night I was venting to my son who said, 'Mum you have had such an interesting life, you should write about it'," Semone told the Advertiser.

"So I sat down and started writing. Everything just seemed to pour out of me. I would still be writing at one or two in the morning, not even aware of time. "It took me two months to write the book – but then three months to edit it because I had such a lot of material."

Semone had a lot of life to squeeze into those pages of the book that she published through Authorhouse.

The second oldest of nine siblings, her life in her home country Jamaica was marked by hard work as she helped her mother bring up her younger siblings and keep house for the large family.

But when she was 16 years old in 1976, her mother sent her to London to live with a distant male relative.

In the book she relates what it was like to arrive in England, with no family, when she was just a teenager.

"I was terrified, can you imagine?" she said. "I was just 16 and had never left Jamaica before."

In her time living with her mother's cousin in Battersea, in south London, she went to college and then began working as a clerk in a fruit and veg wholesalers.

Armed with shorthand and typing qualifications, she began to work her way up the ranks of executive personal assistants, before long working exclusively for the bosses of big banks in the City.

Having moved to Enfield in 1982, she raised her three sons in the borough.

But her life took another unexpected twist in 2005 when, after going through a difficult divorce, she moved once again to build a new life for herself in Orlando, where she became an insurance agent, selling life, dental and health packages.

She lived there for almost ten years, but the pull of her family in the UK was strong and she returned to Enfield this year.

She wants her book to act as a rallying cry for anyone who thinks they can never get out of a situation.

"There is always light at the end of the tunnel, there is always hope," she said.

"I want people to know that if they have a hard time – then God will help. I want people to read this book and realise that they are not alone – no matter what they feel like."

And Semone is hoping that the publication of the book is just the first step on the road towards her becoming a fully fledged author as she has another book in the pipeline.

■ A Rose Amongst Thorns can be bought from Amazon.co.uk or Barnes and Noble and downloaded as an e-book.

First step: Semone Deon King hopes her book will be an inspiration for others

"Freedom to Flourish"

opportunities at
Palmers Green High School

From 3-year olds joining the Alice Nursery to Seniors excitedly making plans for Sixth Form, our girls are supported and challenged throughout their school careers.

Opportunities abound within this small school because our girls can access experiences normally reserved for 'the chosen few'.

An atmosphere of calm excitement and purposeful engagement is apparent from early days in the Alice Nursery, where girls flourish as they discover the world around them through a variety of carefully planned activities linked to a weekly theme.

Lower School classes benefit hugely from the encouragement and expertise of their class teachers and teaching assistants. Favourable teaching group sizes, light and airy classrooms and access to senior school facilities all lead to an inspirational learning environment. This is enriched by specialist teaching in Art, Design & Technology, Drama, French, German, Latin, Music, PE and Russian – frequently in half class groups.

In Senior School small class sizes (an average of only 10 at GCSE) along with a broad range of extra-curricular activities enriches the girls' experience. New Year 7s enjoy a three-day residential PGL trip and friendships are formed quickly and easily. Excellent teamwork helped our Year 10 pupils to win the 2014 London Schools Hydrogen Challenge, in a world record-breaking time. In 2014 GCSE candidates attainment at A*/A was 75%, placing them amongst the top performers in the country.

Ranked 1st in The Sunday Times league table for Small Schools for the last five years, parents can be confident that Palmers Green High School girls attain excellent results in relation to their abilities and aptitudes. Here every girl is known as an individual and encouraged to contribute fully in all areas of school life, where a plethora of opportunities ensures that our girls have freedom to flourish.

Children born between 1st September 2011 and 31st August 2012

We currently have afternoon places available for children whose birthday falls between the above dates, for a September 2015 start.

Our purpose-built nursery, with its secure, enclosed outdoor play area, offers children the opportunity to learn both indoors and outdoors. The nursery curriculum forms part of the Early Years' Foundation Stage, as outlined in Development Matters guidance. All learning takes place in a secure setting where the children are encouraged to discover and learn through play-based activities. We are keen to ensure that our children have the best possible start to their education and development.

We offer all children 15 free hours of nursery education per week, with the option to purchase additional sessions.

New multi-million pound Animal Management Centre opening at Capel Manor College

“ There are more animals in Greater London than Norfolk and Suffolk put together. ”

Boris Johnson, Mayor of London, at the opening of the first phase of the London Animal Management Centre at Capel Manor College

These new facilities at our Enfield Centre will raise animal management training provision across London to a totally new level and will provide the next generation of students with the skills, knowledge and experience to ensure the capital's animal population can be properly managed and cared for in the future.

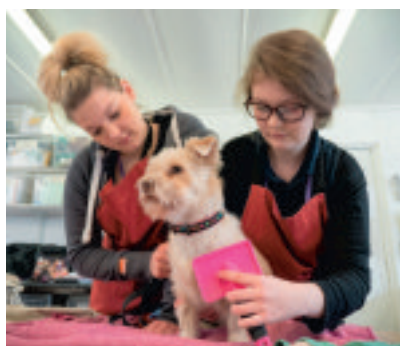

Opening in September 2015, students joining the College will have access to over 1,000m² of modern learning space and a mini-zoo.

Unique opportunities

The new building will be integrated within a two-acre complex housing animals from all over the world in eco zones representing their natural habitat, it will provide students with unique opportunities to gain hands-on experience, caring for a wide range of animals from across the globe whilst gaining nationally recognised qualifications for employment or access to Higher Education.

Members of the public will also be able to enjoy the new facilities alongside 34 acres of world-famous gardens.

Find out more about our courses and the new facilities at our Enfield Advice Evening, Tuesday 12 May, 5.00pm to 7.30pm. The tour of the new centre will start at 5.30pm.

The new centre will have a dog grooming parlour, teaching veterinary unit and exotic and reptile animal housing.

OUR LOCAL 5 STAR FOOD HYGIENE RATED RESTAURANTS
A business, such as the restaurants featured here can be given one of these hygiene ratings.
The food safety officer inspecting a business checks how well the business is meeting the law by looking at:

- how hygienically the food is handled - how it is prepared, cooked, re-heated cooled and stored
- the condition of the structure of the buildings - the cleanliness, layout, lighting, ventilation and other facilities
- how the business manages and records what it does to make sure food is safe

At the end of the inspection, the business is given one of the six ratings. The top rating of '5' means that the business was found to have 'very good' hygiene standards. Any business should be able to reach this top rating. The food safety officer will explain to the person who owns or manages the business what improvements are needed and how they can achieve the top rating of '5'. The local authority will check these improvements are made.

Show pays tribute to ultimate femme fatale

Marina's show recalls the glamour days of Dietrich

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

"FALLINK in love again, never vouted to, vot am I to do? Can't heeeelp it."

Sung in her trademark, almost lazily sultry style and in her clipped German accent, it is the Marlene Dietrich song most people are acquainted with, although younger generations probably haven't a clue who she was.

With her husky vocals and smouldering performances on the silver screen, the glamorous actress was a Hollywood star in the 1930s and 1940s, renowned for her sensual and seductive femme fatale roles.

Audiences at Edmonton's Millfield Theatre, in Silver Street, can discover what was so mesmerising about her when versatile international chanteuse Marina Laslo pays tribute to the iconic singer and actress in the show, Dietrich Letters, on Saturday.

Using archive materials and letters from the Dietrich estate, it tells the story of how the charismatic actress and singer shot to international stardom in 1930 in the film Blue Angel before moving from her native Germany to the USA to embark on a dazzling film career.

She reinvented herself as a cabaret singer in the 1950s, playing the Sahara in Las Vegas in 1953 and taking London by storm at the Cafe de Paris a year later. Audiences were still flocking to see and hear the legend worldwide well into her 70s.

The show features a collection of many her classic songs, including Falling in Love Again, Johnny, The Boys in the Back Room and Where Have All The Flowers Gone?, all performed by the equally captivating Marina.

She says: "It's quite a challenge to take on her songs, but to be believable you have to throw yourself into character and commit entirely to the lyrics and tell the story. I'm so looking forward to bringing Marlene Dietrich's music to a whole new audience. To quote Marlene's final words in the film Touch of Evil, 'It'll be some kind of a show'."

No laurels for new version of Hardy classic

FAR FROM THE MADDING CROWD (12A, 119 mins)

A RECENT re-release of John Schlesinger's 1967 version of Far From The Madding Crowd provided a timely reminder of the raw emotional power of Thomas Hardy's late 19th-century novel and Julie Christie's luminous portrayal of spirited heroine Bathsheba Everdene.

Danish director Thomas Vinterberg brings a delicate touch to this handsome new incarnation, which runs 50 minutes shorter than its predecessor and is undernourished as a consequence.

One tragic supporting character, who should shatter our hearts, is reduced to a simplistic, two-dimensional plot device and the heroine's vacillations between three potential suitors seem more haphazard than usual in a noticeably rushed final act.

Moreover, one of these paramours has significantly more screen time, so her choice is inevitable.

Feelings are tightly buttoned beneath Janet Patterson's splendid costumes and when one of the characters does eventually lose control and commits a fatal "crime of passion" at a Christmas party, we're just as surprised by the outburst as the film's clucky social set.

The film opens in 1870 with Bathsheba (Carey Mulligan) living with her aunt Mrs Hurst on the adjacent property to handsome sheep farmer Gabriel Oak (Matthias Schoenaerts).

She rebuffs his heartfelt advances, telling a crestfallen Gabriel: "I don't want a husband. I don't want to be some man's property."

Soon after, Bathsheba inherits her uncle's vast estate and defies expectation to turn around the ailing farm, aided by her companion Liddy (Jessica Barden).

Gabriel, who has fallen on hard times, is hired by Bathsheba as the estate's shepherd and continues to pine for her.

Meanwhile, emotionally repressed and wealthy farmer William Boldwood (Michael Sheen) makes his feelings for Bathsheba known, but her head is turned by dashing and reckless Sergeant Troy (Tom Sturridge), whose heart was broken at the altar by servant girl Fanny (Juno Temple).

These three suitors leave Bathsheba in an emotional whirl and when Boldwood offers her financial security as his bride, she turns to brooding Gabriel for advice.

"I need some who's objective, indifferent," Fanny tells the shepherd. "Then I'm afraid you're asking the wrong man," pointedly responds Gabriel.

Anchored by Mulligan's nuanced performance, Far From The Madding Crowd is a visually arresting, but ultimately anaemic portrait of rural desires.

Schoenaerts wrestles in vain with a West Country accent, while Sheen and Sturridge have limited screen time to match fond memories of Peter Finch and Terence Stamp in respective roles in the 1967 film.

While Vinterberg's vision, filmed on location in pastoral Dorset, Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire, lacks emotional heft, it packs a mighty visual punch thanks to cinematographer Charlotte Bruus Christensen. Rolling landscapes look invitingly wild and untamed, bathed largely in natural light, and the nascent beauty of leading lady Mulligan shines through the artfully composed muck and grime.

GARDEN CENTRE IS NOW READY TO ANNOUNCE ITS TRANSFORMATION

Not only is it a quality garden centre, but with 9 other companies now on site, including Cotton Traders, Pavers Shoes, Anglian Windows, Pets Corner, Pots of Art, Enfield Aquatics and the Gardener's Restaurant, it is truly a destination centre.

New manager Steve Williams has been in the industry for over 30 years and is passionate about British-grown plants.

Steve said "The company started out growing plants in this country and has evolved into a well-respected garden centre group over the years with the famous 'Chelsea Gardener' garden centre in London being part of the same group".

"We have an affinity with other British growers and like to support them wherever possible".

Since joining in January he has been changing his supplier base and now boasts that over 90 percent of the hardy nursery stock on site is British grown.

Plants grown in Britain will not only survive in your garden, but positively thrive, having been nurtured and raised in our own climate.

Buying British not only keeps our growers in business, which helps the overall economy, but also cuts down on transport miles/carbon emissions and provides far stronger and well-adapted plants to flourish in our temperamental British weather.

A lot of plants are now brought in from Europe where they are grown in softer conditions and not acclimatised to our conditions, often causing them to fail over here. Steve is so confident in the quality and range of plants brought in from our British growers he is now offering a two year guarantee on all British hardy nursery stock. In the unlikely event your plant fails within two years, simply bring it back for a replacement.

Simply look out for the Union Jack flags and guarantee signs around the site showing our British plants.

When you Buy British, you buy with total confidence.

Party Positions on Bricks and Mortar

The gloves are off, the sleeves are rolled up and the election bandwagon is well and truly rolling. As 7 May creeps ever closer, it's time to get down to the nitty gritty of campaigning and find out what the big players really have in store should they get the keys to Number 10 next month.

When it comes to housing policy, there's a huge divide among the major parties as to which direction the UK should head in with regard to property laws, construction and incentives and leg-ups for first-time buyers. The Tories are going all out for the first-time buyer vote with their proposed policy to allow buyers under 40 years old to purchase properties at 20% below market value. This would be funded by their pledge to build 200,000 starter homes specifically for this market.

Other parties are supplying more impressive figures when it comes to new housing, with Labour, the Lib Dems and UKIP proposing construction of 200,000, 300,000 and 200,000 new homes each year respectively, with all parties favouring the introduction of new towns and garden cities to cope with increasing demand. UKIP is determined to protect greenbelt land and proposes incentives to build affordable housing on brownfield sites instead.

Unsurprisingly, the blue and purple corners are coming out against the mansion tax, while Labour has plans to get more heavy handed with owners of vacant properties – they intend to double the Council Tax charge for properties that are empty for over a year. UKIP has stretched this to five years, with a waiver for landlords who reintroduce empty properties to the marketplace.

Labour seems to be the party most intent on fighting on behalf of renters, with a number of policies aimed at giving tenants more rights. Among these is introducing a cap on private sector rental increases, and also getting rid of estate agent letting fees, which can prove an extra financial burden to tenants already having to find large deposits and other fees. However, all parties seem to concur that tenancy agreements should be increased and rules tightened – with the Green Party pushing for 5-year tenancies, with a right to renew unless the landlord is selling the property or intends to move into it themselves.

With the election result still very much up in the air, the only certainty is that there will definitely be changes afoot for buyers, tenants, house builders and estate agents. It just remains to be seen exactly which changes will be implemented and who they will benefit.

Property tips

It is best to avoid swapping telephone numbers with your vendor/buyer. Leave your estate agent to iron out any issues, keeps both sides reassured and acts as the go-between. With a phone number at their disposal, the other party can air their anxieties or grievances directly at you, rather than going through the official channels.

YOUR HOME MAY BE REPOSSESSED IF YOU DO NOT KEEP UP REPAYMENTS ON YOUR MORTGAGE OR ANY OTHER DEBT SECURED ON IT.

*Terms and conditions apply. Any incentive is subject to using the services of a Fairview approved IFA and panel solicitor/licensed conveyancer. With the Help to Buy scheme you can purchase your new home for just 80% of the full purchase price. A minimum of 5% deposit is required. The outstanding balance is financed through an equity loan funded by the HCA, which is interest free for the first five years. After 5 years, the equity loan will be subject to a fee due to the HCA of 1.75% per annum on the outstanding amount of the equity loan and is paid back as a percentage value of the Open Market Value after 25 years or subsequent resale, whichever occurs earliest. Help to Buy is available on selected, limited properties only. No other incentives are available. An arrangement fee is required by the purchaser. Here's a car for all seasons...

By Iain Dooley

LOOK past the Outback's modest visual updates and there's clear evidence that Subaru has been busy making its crossover-style wagon more competitive.

The Japanese firm has made a number of welcome tweaks to the driving experience, with changes to the car's steering and suspension resulting in sharper and more engaging on-road behaviour.

Subaru has also been busy in the Outback's cabin as the overall ambience has been improved thanks to a significant uplift in quality.

New trim materials, a new fascia and seats help boost the car's premium class credentials, alongside revised engines.

Subaru is rolling out a trick suite of active safety measures, including an auto brake function, intelligent cruise control and a lane departure warning system.

Admired among the Subaru faithful for its no-nonsense personality, practical cabin and easy-on-the-eye looks, the Outback offers an interesting blend of (almost) go-anywhere abilities, plus durable mechanicals.

This revised Outback is closer to its European rivals in the refinement and quality departments than ever before, although it remains a niche consideration for most buyers.

The Outback's generous size cabin ensures that all occupants benefit from a decent amount of head and legroom – especially in the back. Oddment space in the cabin is also good, while the car's boot is large enough to cope with the demands of most owners.

Thanks to the Outback's elevated ride height, cabin entry and loading the boot is made that bit easier, too. And it wouldn't be right to omit reference to the car's 4x4 system, which is likely to be just as useful in the dry as in the wet.

As part of the Outback's update programme, Subaru's engineers have made some welcome improvements under the car's skin.

Tweaks to refine how the Outback behaves on the road have resulted in a more engaging and refined driving experience, while the diesel-CVT auto combination proves to be a smooth and predictable combination.

Factor in all-wheel drive and the Outback is a robust, all-weather package that's also brisk, yet imparts a high level of confidence and security.

Aside from the basic act of driving, Subaru has pushed the boat out with an all-singing, all-dancing active safety package, which combines the intelligent cruise control, lane departure warning and auto brake function to better protect you from the outside world than many of the Outback's pricier rivals.

No longer a cheap and cheerful alternative for rough and ready farmers, Subaru's Outback delivers a high level of refinement, comfort and practicality on a par with its premium European rivals.

Although well equipped in standard trim, you'll need to pick an auto transmission car if you want to benefit from Subaru's trick active safety package.

Furthermore, diesel remains the smart choice if you want to reduce your tax and fuel outlay.

If the current crop of fashion-led SUVs bring you out in a rash, Subaru's polished, yet no-nonsense Outback offers a good blend of versatility, useful technology, all-weather practicality and understated style.

It's not the last word in sporty handling, but it'll likely be more helpful when the roads are soaked or you need to tow a trailer than the latest soft-roader.

THE NISSAN DEPOSIT CONTRIBUTION IS ONLY AVAILABLE TO CUSTOMERS TAKING NISSAN FINANCE ON A NEW LEAF REGISTERED BETWEEN 01/4/2015 AND 30/6/2015 AT PARTICIPATING DEALERS ONLY. The offer is based on 7500 miles pa, excess mileage 10p per mile and is not available in conjunction with any schemes or offers. Finance provided by RCI Financial Services Limited, PO Box 149, Watford WD17 1TJ. Subject to status. Guarantees and indemnities may be required. You must be at least 18 and a UK resident (excluding the Isle of Man and Channel Islands). Terms and conditions apply, please visit www.nissan-offers.co.uk or your local dealer for full details. All prices include first registration fee and 12 months' road fund licence. Information correct at time of going to print. Model shown is for illustration purposes only and are subject to availability. Our dealership introduces customers to a limited number of finance providers including RCI Financial Services Ltd. Finance providers pay us for introducing you to them. CO2 while driving 0. MPG N/A. From 2p per mile is based on (i) overnight electricity costs (British Gas Standard Tariff unit rates for a customer paying by direct debit as at 1 May 2014, assuming seven hours of charging at the night rate and one hour on the day rate), and (ii) a range of up to 124 miles per full charge (assuming 95% efficiency). Actual consumption and range may vary due to driving style, road condition, air conditioning and other factors outside our control. Daily standing charge of 26p also applies. LEAF 24-hour test drive is subject to availability and eligibility criteria, and from participating Nissan dealers only. Restrictions and limitations apply, see nissan.co.uk/leaf24. *Source: December 2013 Nissan Europe Customer Satisfaction survey of 498 LEAF buyers across UK, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Norway and France, who had owned their car for approximately one month. Public Notices

LONDON BOROUGH OF ENFIELD LICENSING ACT 2003
Notice of Application for New Premises Licence or Club Premises Certificate Application
NOTICE IS GIVEN Hasan Rishi has applied to the London Borough of Enfield for a New Premises Licence, licensable activities as follows:
Recorded Music - indoors; Ground and First Floor; Monday-Saturday 11.00-00.00, Sunday 12.00-23.30.
Late night refreshment - indoors: Ground Floor; Monday-Wednesday: 23.00-00.00; Thursday-Saturday: 23.00-00.00; Sunday 23.00-00.00; First Floor; Monday-Saturday 23.00-00.00, Sunday 23.00-23.30.
Sale of alcohol - on-supplies: Ground & First Floors; Monday-Saturday: 11.00-00.00; Sunday: 12.00-23.30 at Nehr Oakbasi Restaurant, 26 London Road, Enfield, EN2 6ED.
Persons living or involved in a business in the vicinity of the premises or bodies representing them who wish to make a representation against the application, must do so by specifying the grounds of their representation by email to licensing@enfield.gov.uk or in writing to the Licensing Team, PO Box 57, Civic Centre, Silver Street, Enfield, EN1 3XH WITHIN TWENTY EIGHT DAYS FROM THE DATE OF THE APPLICATION MADE ON 22nd April 2015.
Petitions shall state on each page the grounds for representation and notice to signatories that the petition will be copied to the applicant. Each page must be dated and signatories must print their full name and address.
On the day after the application is made a completed notice must be exhibited on a conspicuous part of the premises where it can be easily seen and read by persons in the street, 24 hours a day. That notice must be kept exhibited for not less than 28 consecutive days.
It is an offence to make a false statement in connection with an application for a licence or a licence of an offence is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level five on the standard scale.
The application is posted on the Council's website www.enfield.gov.uk under Licensing (L).

GOODS VEHICLE OPERATORS LICENCE
ACE TRANSPORT LTD of Unit 14, Kier Park, East Duck Lees Lane, Enfield, EN3 7SR is applying to change an existing licence as follows: To keep an extra 5 goods vehicles and 10 trailers at the operating centre at Unit 14 Kier Park, East Duck Lees Lane, EN3 7SR.
Owners or occupiers of land (including buildings) near the operating centre who believe that their use or enjoyment of that land would be affected, should make written representations to the Traffic Commissioner at Office of the Traffic Commissioner (London and the South East of England) Ivy House, 3 Ivy Terrace, Eastbourne, East Sussex BN21 4QT stating their reasons within 21 days of this Notice. Representatives must at the same time send a copy of their representations to the applicant at the address given at the top of this Notice.
A Guide to Making Representations is available from the Traffic Commissioner's Office.

LICENSING ACT 2003
Notice of Application for A Premises Licence
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Hatch Project Ltd has applied to the Licensing Authority of London Borough of Haringey for a Premises Licence to permit:
Provision of regulated entertainment, Plays, Films, Live Music, Recorded Music, Dancing; 9.00-00.00 Sunday-Thursday, 9.00-01.00 Friday-Saturday, Late Night Refreshments and Supply of Alcohol; 12.00-00.00 Sunday-Thursday, 12.00-01.00 Friday-Saturday.
A register of licensing applications can be inspected at Licensing Team, Enforcement, Service, Technopark, Ashley Road, Tottenham, N17 8LN.
Any person wishing to submit relevant representations concerning this application must give notice in writing to the London Borough of Haringey, Licensing Team at the above address, giving in detail the grounds of the representation no later than 13th May 2015.
The Council will not entertain representations where the writer requests that his identity remains anonymous. Copies of all representations will be included in the papers presented to the Licensing Authorities Sub Committee and will therefore pass into the public domain. Representations must relate to one or more of the four Licensing Objectives: the prevention of crime and disorder, public safety, the prevention of public nuisance and the protection of children from harm.
It is an offence liable on conviction to a fine up to £5000 under section 158 of the Licensing Act 2003 knowingly or recklessly to make a false statement in connection with an application.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 - Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 - Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 - Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified line and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 - Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 - Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors. Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes. Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

KANE WINS BIG AWARD

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

HARRY KANE has been rewarded for his outstanding season by being named the Professional Footballers' Association's Young Player of the Year.

The Tottenham Hotspur striker has enjoyed a stunning campaign – scoring 30 goals in all competitions including 20 in the Premier League – and collected the award in London on Sunday night after his achievements were recognised by his fellow professionals.

Kane was also runner-up to Chelsea's Eden Hazard in the Footballer of the Year award and was named in the Premier League's team of the year as a result of his exploits throughout the campaign.

"It is amazing," the 21-year-old said. "It is a very proud moment for myself and my family – hopefully the first of many to come."

"I have got to keep working hard, but to be recognised by your fellow players is something special and it is a night that I won't forget. It is incredible."

"This season has been unreal. A lot has changed in the last 12 months but I've always believed in my ability and have been waiting for a chance to express myself. I didn't think it would happen as quickly as it has done but I have managed to ride the wave and the season has got better and better."

"I got the opportunity with the gaffer and I have really enjoyed my season so far, I have taken my chance."

Kane added: "We have worked hard and I have worked hard to get to where we are now. It is going great and hopefully it is just the start with more to come.

Rising star: Harry Kane has been named Young Player of the Year

"My favourite moment was probably making my England debut and getting that goal – it was a very proud moment."

"For a footballer to represent their country is the pinnacle and I'm very proud. I was able to do that and it was a moment I won't forget."

Kane was unable to add to his goal tally on Saturday, when Spurs twice came from behind to draw 2-2 at Southampton to remain sixth in the Premier League table.

Graziano Pelle grabbed both of Southampton's goals, but Erik Lamela and Nacer Chadli replied for Tottenham to ensure that head coach Mauricio Pochettino avoided defeat on his return to his former club.

The match also saw Hugo Lloris make his comeback after a month on the sidelines, and the keeper was delighted to return.

"It was a tough game, as we expected," he said. "After a month it was a pleasure to come back into the team and it was a good feeling."

"My absence is part of football but it was good for Michel Vorm because he did well for the team. There is a good spirit in the team, especially between the goalkeepers."

"We could have done better in the first half and their first goal put us in a bit of trouble but, after that, we had a good reaction and showed character to come back twice, so that was positive."

"However, we're also disappointed because we wanted to win this game. We got the feeling that if we scored before them we could have won the game but that's football. At the end we have to be happy with the draw."

Borough end their record-breaking campaign in fine style

HARINGEY BOROUGH rounded off their record-breaking Essex Senior League campaign in fitting style by securing an astonishing 12-0 triumph at home to Tower Hamlets on Saturday.

Borough had been crowned champions the previous week and their season-ending rout saw them finish with a remarkable total of 34 wins and one draw from their 38 league matches to secure an Essex Senior League record tally of 103 points.

Their tally of 34 wins in a season was also a record as was their total of 129 goals, while their final goal difference of 99 was the joint best in Essex Senior League history – along with runners-up Bowers and Pitsea.

Darrell Cox stole the show on Saturday by scoring an incredible eight times, including the opening goal after just 15 seconds.

Cox struck again on 12 minutes and went on to complete his hat-trick eight minutes later.

Leroy Griffiths had added the third in between these two goals, while Daniel Aristidou continued the rout by getting on the scoresheet in the 22nd minute.

Cox made it 6-0 after just 27 minutes but Borough had to wait until the 58th minute for Dean Fenton to further increase their lead.

Cox then took centre stage again with a quick-fire treble as the hosts made it into double figures and Tower Hamlets' misery was completed by two goals in stoppage time, with Joshua Willer scoring the 11th before Cox fittingly had the final say by grabbing his eighth of the match moments before the final whistle.

Meanwhile, Borough brought up their century of points by claiming a 4-1 victory over Takeley on Thursday night.

Cornel Cornea gave them the lead from the penalty spot on nine minutes but there were no further goals until Willer doubled Borough's advantage on 69 minutes.

Theo Ola pulled one back ten minutes later but Shaun Beveney restored Borough's two-goal lead with another penalty and Cox wrapped up the scoring late on.

Another defeat for struggling Skolars

THE London Skolars' difficult start to the Kingstone Press Championship One season continued as they slumped to a 48-6 defeat at early leaders Oldham on Sunday.

The Skolars had suffered heavy losses in two of their first three league matches, and they were again comprehensively outplayed in this clash as the table-toppers proved much too good.

George Tyson, Liam Thompson and Jon Ford went over for tries in the first half, with Lewis Palfrey converting all three scores to give the hosts an 18-0 advantage at the interval.

The one-sided nature of the contest continued after the break as Ford ran in another three tries, while Tyson, Richard Joy and Tom Dempsey also crossed the line and Palfrey added a further three goals.

Vincent Spurr claimed a consolation try for the Skolars in the last minute, with Sam Druce adding the conversion.

However, the Skolars have been handed a boost with the news that they have secured the signing of Michael Bishay for the remainder of the 2015 campaign.

Bishay left the London Broncos at the end of last season to join North Devils in Queensland, Australia, but has decided to return home early after growing frustrated at a lack of first-team opportunities.

The 22-year-old made more than 20 appearances for the Broncos and has also featured previously for the Skolars on a dual registration deal, forming part of their side which reached the Northern Rail Bowl final two years ago.
